

OU INDIANS BID FOR CIC CHAMPIONSHIP

Gateway

Volume XLI OMAHA UNIVERSITY No. 8
OMAHA, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1961

Registration Open For Senior Day

Seniors may still register today in the Student Placement Office (Adm. 248) to attend Senior Executive Day.

Business and industry in the Omaha area will open its doors Tuesday, November 14, to 370 Omaha University seniors participating in Senior Executive Day.

Seniors will tour Omaha business firms in the fields of service, manufacturing, transportation and communication.

The top executive of each firm will discuss the history, capital structure, personnel, markets and profit picture of his company.

This program allows graduating students to see the mechanization of American Business and Industry.

Students will visit Bishop Clarkson Hospital, Federal Reserve Bank, Guarantee Mutual, McKesson & Robbins, Meredith WOW, Mutual of Omaha, Northern Natural Gas, Northwestern Bell Telephone, Omaha National Bank, Omaha Steel Works, Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel, Swift & Co., Union Pacific Railroad, Union Stock Yards, United Air Lines and Western Electric.

Seniors participating must report to the Field House at 8 a.m., Tuesday, November 14, to the host of the firm they will visit. Buses will leave for the respective firms at 8:30.

The Omaha Rotary Club, in cooperation with the University, is sponsoring the seventh annual "Senior Executive Day."

'Life with Father' Opens Thursday

Opening night for Omaha University's first theatrical production, "Life with Father," is next Thursday night. Repeat performances will be staged on Friday and Saturday nights. Curtain time for all performances is 8 p.m.

Tickets will be on sale next week from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the ticket booth on the first floor of the Administration building.

Holders of OU activity cards are entitled to one free ticket each. The price of each additional ticket is $1.50.

Contest Blanks Available Mon.

The 1962 Tomahawk Beauty Queen will be selected Dec. 6 in the Conference Center Auditorium.

Any girl is eligible to participate, however, a maximum number of four candidates from any organized group will be permitted.

Entry blanks must be filed with the receptionist in the Dean of Students Office, second floor of the Student Center, by noon on Nov. 13.

Entry blanks may be obtained in the Dean of Students Office Monday.

W. J. Gerbracht Assumes Duties

William J. Gerbracht has assumed his new duties as Director of Student Activities.

Mr. Gerbracht is in charge of student activities on and off campus, advisor to the Interfraternity Council and Student Center programming of activities.

Dr. Milo Bail said the appointment was made to handle increased enrollment and interest in student activities.

The transfer went into effect Nov. 1.

Mr. Gerbracht has resigned as sponsor of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The Director of Student Activities' office is located in Room 250-C of the Student Center.

Utley to Give 'Affairs' Program

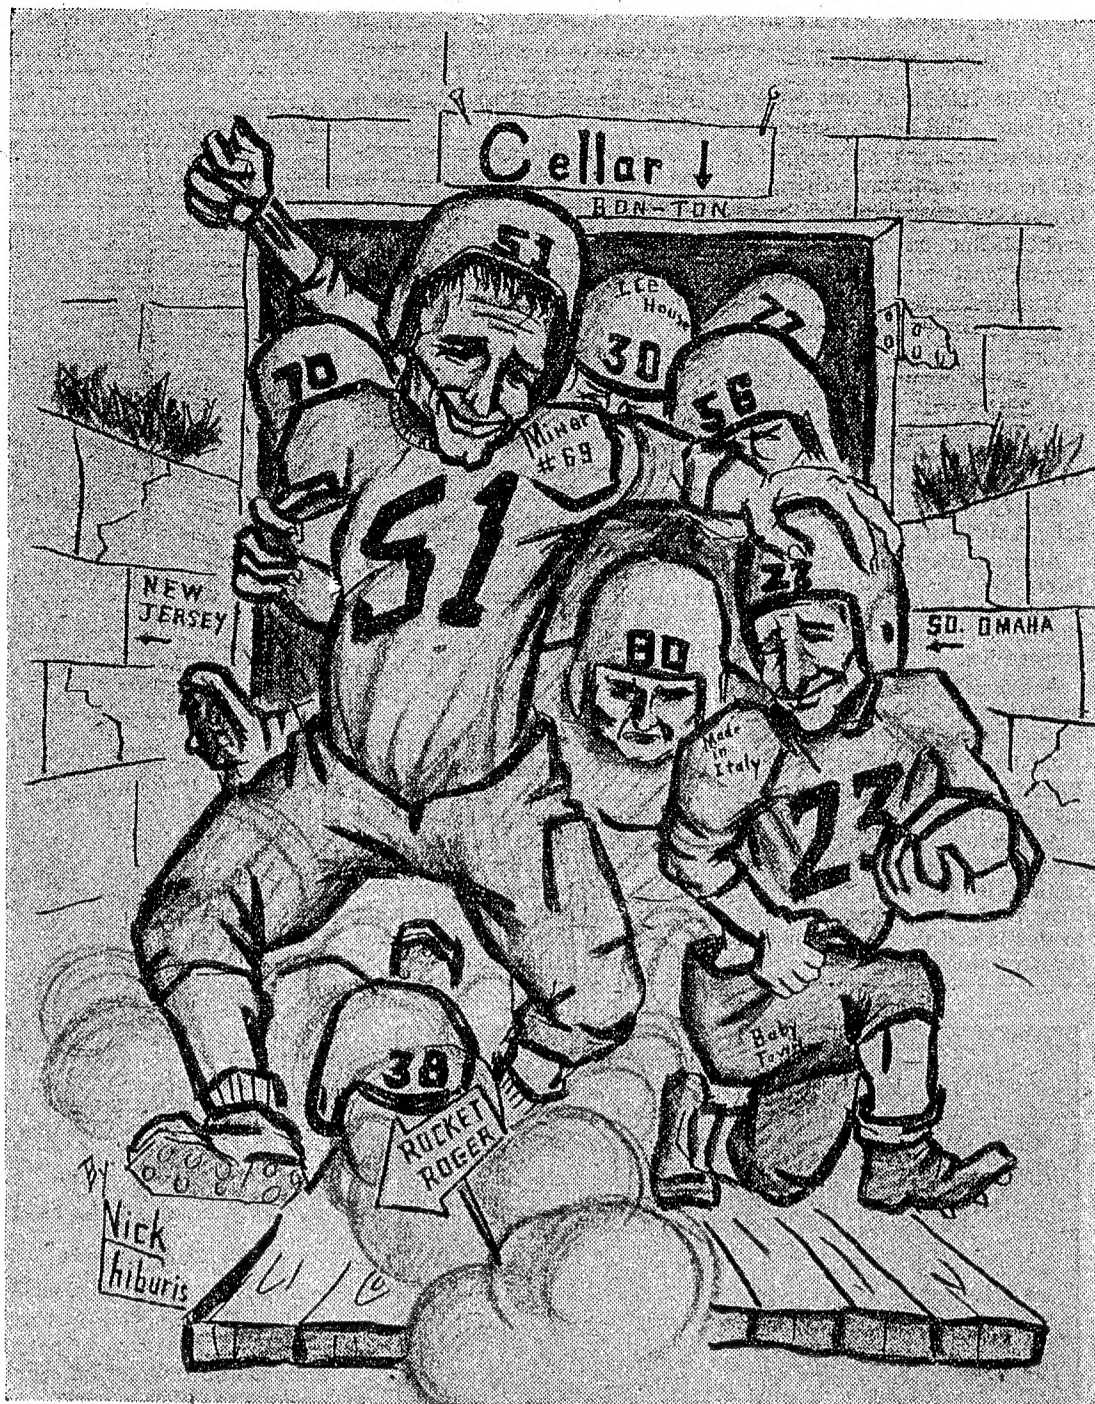

The last in the series of Institute of World Affairs lectures will be a summation by William T. Utley, professor and chairman political science department, University of Omaha.

Mr. Utley will draw some general conclusions from what has been said by previous speakers and make some observations of his own.

Mr. Utley's speech will mark the first time a member of OU's faculty has addressed the Institute. It will also be the first time a summation of the lecture series has been presented.

The lecture will be held at 8:15 p. m. in the University of Omaha auditorium.

TOMORROW!
Omaha University
vs.
Pittsburgh State
KBON 7:30 P.M.

The CIC Cinderella Team emerges from last year's cellar to battle for the Conference championship. The Indians meet the Pittsburg Gorillas tomorrow night in Pittsburg, Kansas.

Official Notices

All students, except freshmen, are to confer with their counselors during the week of Nov. 13 about the mid-semester scholastic reports. The reports are submitted for credit students in CAE classes as well as for day classes.

Students planning to teach in the secondary schools during the Spring Semester are asked to meet in Room 209, Administration Building at 3:30 p.m. November 27.

A slide lecture on "Century 21: Seattle World's Fair" will be held next Tuesday from 11:30 to 12:30 in the Student Organization Room in the Student Center.

Seimers Seeks Doctor's Degree

Curt Seimers, assistant dean of Student Personnel, will leave Omaha University next August to seek his doctor's degree. Dean Seimers has applied for admission at Indiana University.

He will work on his doctor's in the field of college administration and teacher education. This is a switch for Dean Seimers who got his Master's degree ten years ago at the University of Nebraska in English Literature.

Dr. Trickett Speaks At Legacy of Man

Dr. A. Stanley Trickett, head of the history department, will discuss the contributions, philosophy and functions of history as related to our modern society at the Nov. 16 presentation of the Legacy of Man series.

The discussion will be presented from 9:30 to 10 p.m. and will be broadcast by station KQAL.

Gridders Meet No. 1 Team Tomorrow at Pittsburg

By JOHN RITNER

Omaha University takes on the nation's No. 1 small college football power, Pittsburg State, tomorrow night for the Central Intercollegiate Conference title.

The Indians, the cinderella team in the CIC, will be gunning for their first title since joining the conference in 1959 and the first conference championship of any kind for football in school history.

OU was in the North Central Conference until 1942 when it dropped out because of scheduling difficulties. Football was dropped altogether from 1942-46 because of the war.

The Indians, who are riding a four-game winning streak, will be the underdog in the show-down contest. The game will be aired on radio KBON from Pittsburg, Kansas, starting at 7:50 p. m. with the pre-game warmup.

Head Coach Al Caniglia didn't seem awed by the rating given the Gorillas. After seeing the scouting report and the films of last year's game he said, "We're going down there to win."

He also said his club will be in good physical shape for the contest.

Barry Miller, a corner linebacker and fullback who has been shelved for the last two contests, should be ready. The only serious casualty from the Washburn game, quarterback Dave Gibson, is on the doubtful list.

In comparing this year's club with the one that won the Tangerine Bowl game in 1954, Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin said that the '54 club and the present one are very different in that the Tangerine club used to grind out the yardage while Al Caniglia's outfit this year is capable of scoring from anywhere on the field.

The Indians, currently tied with the Gorillas for the league lead, finished in a tie with Fort Hays for the CIC cellar the past two years. Pittsburg, meanwhile, has been a perennial power in the league, winning six conference titles and finishing second to St. Benedict's the last two seasons.

The Indians lost to the Gorillas 32-13 last year and were beaten 21-14 two years ago in the club's first meeting.

Pittsburg has rolled over eight opponents to gain the top spot among the small colleges and has limited foes to only seven points this season.

OU is ranked fourteenth among the 380 small colleges and universities in the NAIA. Pittsburg is still ranked first.

One hundred seats have been reserved for Omaha fans for Saturday's game at Pittsburg.

The OU gridders will leave for Pittsburg this morning at 9:30 after a pep rally in the auditorium of the Administration Building at 8:30. Classes will be dismissed for the rally.

There they go! Released at kick-off time, 1,600 helium-filled balloons, inflated and distributed by the Gateway Staff, heralded the Parents' Day game with Washburn. At the half, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Spooner of Farragut, Ia., were chosen as "Typical OU Parents."

Students Vote Campus 'Safe'

By Leigh Wilson

If the results of last week's Gateway nuclear preparedness questionnaire are an indication of the entire student body, most Omaha University students would seek shelter on campus if an atomic blast were imminent.

If they survived the blast, students generally agreed that they would take refuge in some type of underground protection. A few said they'd try to get to their families, and two said there would be no use hiding, and that they would start driving west.

Should the University provide fallout shelters?

Answers ranged from "absolutely not" to "definitely, yes." A majority thought the university should provide some kind of preparation.

One-fourth said that they had some preparations at home for a two-week shelter duration.

All but three agreed that the United States should resume atmospheric testing.

And it was just about unanimous that the reason for Russian testing is twofold: to perfect their nuclear striking arm, and to flex it and thereby intimidate the free world.

Editorial Comment

Tomorrow, the Indians will make their bid for the CIC championship, and win or lose (and there's quite a crowd here that rule out a loss), the University owes a great deal to this year's team.

OU's last winning football season was in 1956. And since then, school spirit has taken a downward ride hitting an all-time low during last year's season.

There's a lot to be said about the old cliché "it's not whether you win or lose . . ." But there's a lot more to be said about being able to cheer for a winning team. And after four successful CIC clashes, the Indians, at home or away, have gradually picked up a cheering section matched only by their gridiron prowess.

Despite the 1960 season with a final tally of one win out of nine starts, and a rooting section to match, the Indians home opener this fall drew a near record crowd. Why? This is still a subject for speculation, but the team lived up to the optimistic predictions.

Tomorrow fans will cheer the Indians from their living rooms, via KBON, as the gridgers take on Pittsburg State, rated the best small college team in the country.

Regardless of the outcome of that game, the team, the coaches and the University can look back on a good season and forward to an even better one.

Lone Studiers Draw Frowns

By Paul Beavers

Room 101 in the Applied Arts Building has apparently become a rather popular study hall for some of the students on campus.

Clarence Lefler, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, said this week, "I don't think it (Room 101) should be used as a study hall for just one or two students."

The cost is too high, he said.

There are 80 300-watt bulbs in Room 101 and they draw 218 amperes of electricity at a cost of 24 cents per hour, he said.

There are also a couple of other factors to consider, Lefler added.

The cost of bulbs ($1.69 each) increase because they burn out sooner, he pointed out.

Under normal burning for class purposes only, he said, the bulbs last "about a year."

"But they burn out much faster when only a handful of students flip on the switch for study hall purposes," he said.

The labor is 50 to 60 cents to replace just one bulb, he continued.

"I would recommend that students use the library for studying," he concluded, "it's a lot cheaper."

Turnstalls Ease Library Crowding

The library traffic system, which students have been testing since last January, was effected by the installation of turnstalls November 1.

The library has always had the problem of getting students to leave single file in order for librarians to check the books, said Ellen Lord, head librarian.

Often traffic becomes congested when students would ask questions at the end of the main desk rather than at the information section.

Miss Lord has asked students to have books ready and brief cases open.

The before and after class rush has caused a problem, but things are running smoothly, although a little noisily, said Miss Lord.

By Ken Zimmermann

"Football at the University of Omaha has been a losing proposition in more ways than one in recent years. Something may be done about it."

These words fell with 50-megaton force when they appeared on page one of the December 9, 1960 Gateway.

Headlined with a blaring, three-column "Will Football Be Dropped?" the story told of a committee being formed to study campus activities and come up with "an intensive and critical report."

Losing teams and negligible attendance had compelled President Bail to find a solution and answer his question: "Can this situation be justified?"

In the weeks following, his "Investigation Committee" sat through a semester of words, sometimes heated, meetings. Tempers occasionally flared, questions were asked, financial records were published and much soul-searching was apparently done.

Though the conclusions reached were vague and football's future remained cloudy, the sessions served one distinct purpose.

Football became a much-discussed subject and an unmistakable challenge was tossed to Coach Caniglia and his beef trust.

They had to produce or find themselves relegated to "minor sport" status.

It's been almost a year now, since that ominous story appeared. Things have changed.

Let me illustrate with a couple more paragraphs from last year.

"While indicating a desire that intercollegiate football itself be maintained, Dr. Bail questioned OU's continued competition in the Central Intercollegiate Conference."

"We're outclassed in the CIC," he declared. "That's all there is to it. I see no future in it."

A story on page one of this paper reports that two undefeated (in conference play) teams are meeting tomorrow night for the CIC championship.

Also in that year-ago edition, Dr. Bail mentioned attendance.

"As it is," he pointed out, "no one comes to our games, not even students."

But those 5200 fans in the stadium for the Morningside game weren't from Sioux City.

These developments, however, do not indicate any faulty foresight on the part of Dr. Bail. There was a critical situation and it had to be met.

What has been illustrated this fall is what a bunch of determined athletes can do when they put their minds (and shoulders) to it.

It testifies that spirit and support did not flee the scene in 1956 as so many skeptics would have you believe.

Coach Caniglia and the Indians have loudly and decisively answered a searching question.

They deserve the applause of everyone in Omaha, regardless of the outcome of Saturday night's game.

Machines Stolen From Offices

Three typewriters have been stolen in the last week from rooms in the Administration Building.

Dean of Administration, Kirk Naylor, said that because of this, the corridor doors leading to the foyers of offices, will be locked when no faculty members are in the area.

Two of the missing machines were taken from office foyers.

Naylor indicated that strong punishment will be handed out to anyone caught stealing University property.

There is a workshop of Douglas County Republicans scheduled for November 14 at 8 p.m. in the St. Paul Methodist Church at 54th and Corby streets.

Havanan Will Speak to Club

A former University of Havana teacher will speak at the Spanish Club meeting Nov. 12 at Diane Morey's home, 108th and Francis, from 3 to 4:30 p. m.

Senorita Meca, who will report about "Student Life at the University of Havana," is currently teaching school in Omaha.

All students enrolled in Spanish courses are invited to attend the meeting.

Officers of the club for this year are president, Diane Morey; vice-president in charge of programs, Nancy Nelson; vice-president in charge of petitions, Lupe Villafuerte, and secretary-treasurer, Georgia Heickamp.

Chapter Prexy Hosts Party

Phi Chi Theta, the business honorary, had a rush party at Charon Allen's home, the chapter president, on Nov. 5.

About 15 rushees were present at the informal party and around ten are expected to be pledged at the pledging ceremony Nov. 14.

Another rush will be held second semester.

University Faculty Honored by SEA

Student Education Association honored Omaha University faculty Wednesday at an appreciation tea held in the Student Center.

Dr. Milo Bail and Dean Frank Gorman spoke to the group on the respect and friendship between faculty and students.

The new SEA officers for the year are: Marie Walter, president; Laurie McCann, vice-president; Sue Archer, treasurer; Kay Colburn, secretary; Jean Severa, historian; and Nancy Lindell, publicity. Dr. Joseph Dunn sponsors the club.

Journalist to Discuss The African Problem

Robert St. John, roving correspondent for NBC Monitor and best-selling author, will speak at the sixth University Nights lecture.

Mr. St. John has had harrowing experiences in two wars, and as a journalist crusading against the Al Capone mob.

The topic of Mr. St. John's lecture, "Explosive Africa," is based on first-hand observations in the country, where he has lived and worked. Since 1954 he has written extensively about Africa.

Rothrock to Show Slides of France

Dr. George Rothrock will be the guest speaker at the French club meeting on November 14, at 3:30 p. m. in room 313 of the Student Center.

Dr. Rothrock will show slides of his trip to France.

Plans are being made to reserve an alcove from 11:30 to 1:30 every Tuesday. This will be open to anyone who is interested in speaking French.

Come One, Come All

The Omaha Musik Verein, dedicated to singing, and to teaching young singers German folk songs and music, has extended an invitation to all O. U. students to attend their Saturday night concert and dance.

The concert, to be held at the Omaha Musik Verein, 421 N. 17th Street, will begin at 8:00 p. m. with the dance immediately following.

A similar invitation was extended by Professor Moore to his German language students.

Student Teachers To Host Nov. Tea

A coopearting teachers tea will be held in the Student Center Ballroom Nov. 15 from 3:45 to 5 p.m.

The tea is given by the College of Education student teachers for the cooperating teachers, principals and administrative staff of the schools participating in the student teaching program. The school districts involved are Omaha, District 66, Bellevue, Ralston and Council Bluffs.

Also invited to the tea are all University faculty members involved in student teaching in any way.

Marie Walter, president of Student Education Association, will preside. President Milo Bail will speak. Also invited to speak will be the superintendents of each attending school system.

Sorority Pledges Plan for Insomnia

Alpha Xi Delta pledges are giving a slumber party for their active chapter tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The party will be held at Carol Bachus home, 1134 S. 97th. All members will attend church on Sunday morning. The Protestants will go to First Methodist and the Catholics to Christ the King.

A luncheon is planned after church at the Old English Inn.

Pledge social chairman Margie Scott is in charge of the weekend plans.

Play Pickle!

by Waldo

See the new game? It is an indoor game. Everybody can play it. Come and play the new game. It is called Pickle. Come and play Pickle. Throw the pickle. Throw it across the Ouampi room. See the pickle hit the girl? Wasn't that fun? You throw a pickle at a girl too.

You can throw other things, too. Throw your sandwich wrappers. Laugh and play, college students. Throw the salt shakers in the Ouampi room. College is lots of fun. Throw your sandwich at your friend. Did you hit him? Is he your friend any more? That's good. Throw something else at him. Throw your books. You don't need them anymore now that you can play pickle.

Put your cigarette out in the bootstrapper's coffee.

See how many pickle-players you can get around one table.

See who can scream the loudest.

Oh, oh, here comes the hostess. Don't let her see you playing Pickle. That's against the rules. No, no, Don't throw a pickle at her. Did she see you? No? That's good. Three points for you.

Now throw something real heavy. Throw a chair. Hit your friend with it. Start a riot over Pickle. Throw handfulls of pickles. Dump your pabulum down your girl friend's blouse.

Isn't it fun eating lunch in the Ouampi room?

Groberg, Epstein Capture Intramural Bowling Honors

Gary Groberg's 255 and Brad Epstein's 612 series were the highlights of intramural bowling at the West Lanes Wednesday afternoon.

The Lams, behind Epstein, had the high team game at 2119 and still remained two games ahead of the pack.

Groberg's game, high for the season, kept the Crew ahead in total pins over Fiji for second place. The Crew also had the high team game at 781.

The Crew and Fiji both have 20 points with Lambda Chi (2) pressing with 19 points.

Outside of the four leaders, the league is so close that a team in thirteenth place could move as high as fifth place in one afternoon.

Two points separate the teams from fifth through thirteenth place.

Football

The Joy Boys moved into a tie for second place with the Sig Eps in the Men's Intramural Flag Football League. Both teams finished the season with seven wins and two losses.

The Zeke Moe Joes still have one game left in the season and could, if they lose, force a three-way tie for first place.

The Zekes are currently 7-1 with their only loss being a 13-12 encounter with fourth place Lambda Chi.

Sayers Leads CIC Scorers

Omaha University's fleet back Roger Sayers boosted his point total to 60 in the Washburn game giving him the Central Intercollegiate Conference lead.

Four Pittsburg backs, however, are right behind the Omaha speedster.

The Carl Meyers-Paul Blaze- vich combination accounted for all seven completed passes in the Washburn game for a total of 105 yards which puts the junior end out in front in the conference receiving statistics.

In the season, the Indian defensive unit has allowed only 854 yards to the opposition.

The seven-game statistics:

Rain Slows WRA Softball Action

Last week's Women's Recreation Association softball schedule resulted in two rain outs and one forfeit. Alpha Xi Delta forfeited to Unaffiliated on Tuesday, Oct. 31. The Chi Omega-Alpha Xi Delta and Unaffiliated-Chi Omega matches were both rained out.

Playoffs are expected to begin next week. Chi Omega and Unaffiliated are tied for first place.

It has been announced that all tennis doubles matches have been postponed until Spring because of the cold weather. The WRA volleyball schedule will begin Nov. 14.

The Sig Eps have wrapped up the interfraternity football championship finishing undefeated at 4-0.

Second place is still undecided with one game remaining between the Pi Kaps and TKEs.

A win by the TKEs would give them sole possession of second place.

A Pi Kap win would force a three-way tie with the TKEs and Lambda Chi, who are 2-1.

There will be a meeting of the managers of the basketball teams in Room 301 of the Student Center, Monday, November 13, at 1 p.m.

All managers are requested to attend or send a representative if they cannot attend.

Basketball season is scheduled to start Tuesday, November 14.

Four Mile Relay

The four mile relay, which has been delayed for three weeks, will be run off this afternoon at 4 p.m.

The event will take place on the University track.

Table Tennis

The table tennis tables are still available on Monday nights for those who would care to use them. They are located in the women's P.E. quonset and are open from 7-10.

Cagers Open Here Against Peru State

Although football still dominates the spotlight on the Omaha University campus, opening dates for the winter sports clubs are fast approaching.

Basketball Coach Jim Borsheim's cagers will take the floor in their home opener Saturday, Dec. 2, against Peru State.

Football Coach Al Caniglia, still concerned with his grid squad, will switch over to wrestling mentor after the grid season is over. The first wrestling match is December 8 at Grace- land.

Borsheim has 10 varsity cagers working at the present time. They are: Bill Buller, Ken Connors, Larry Dostal, Bruce Hunter, Dave Hagglund, Jerry Kamphius, Bill King, Joe Neuberger, Wendell Wiksell and Larry Vill- now.

OU Enters Only One Runner in AAU Meet

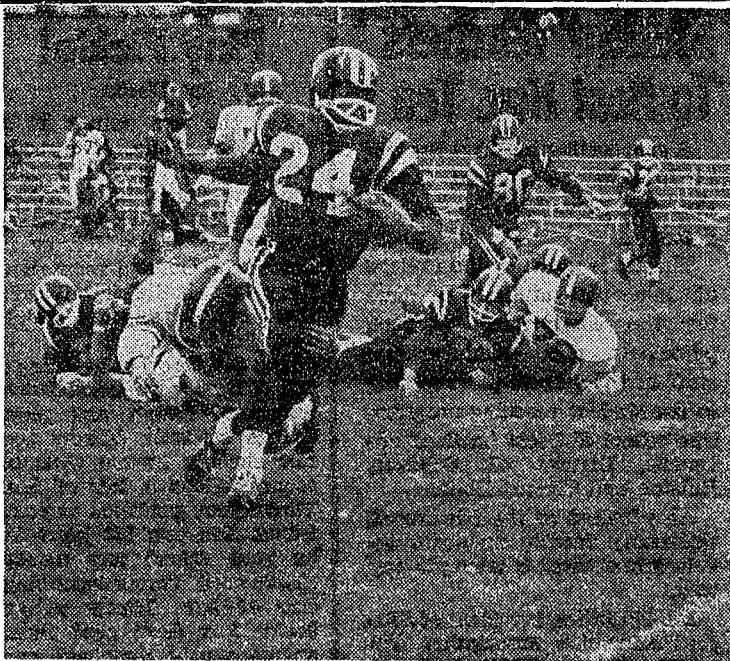

Omaha University could only muster one runner for the Amateur Athletic Union cross coun- try meet on the Elmwood Park course last Friday.

Gene Somer, OU's only runner finished 33rd.

Meets left for the harriers are the NAAI champions to be held on the Elmwood Park course Nov. 25 and the Central Inter- collegiate Conference meet at Emporia Nov. 18.

Somer turned in his best time for four miles running it in 5:14.

Cross country Coach Ernie Gorr said his runner or runners would pass up the District NAAI meet today at Lincoln.

A familiar sight to Omaha University fans this year has been the break away running of halfback Roger Sayers.

The OU speedster breaks away here for a sizable gain against the Ichabods from Washburn last Saturday.

Gridders Win Fourth in CIC

Omaha University chalked up its fourth Central Intercollegiate Conference win Saturday dump- ing Washburn 27-10.

The Indians trailed early in the first quarter but jumped to a 20-3 half-time lead and were not in serious danger the rest of the way.

The Indian win set up a title clash between the Nation's num- ber one small college team Pitts- burg and the Indians who were- n't expected to make much noise in the CIC this year.

Four OU players figured in the scoring.

The Indians dominated the sta- tistics running up 21 first downs to the Ichabods 13 and 386 total yards to Washburn's 176.
